Hints On Etiquette

Sees New Kind Of Newspaper By PAUL GALLICO

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.-While it is not so amusing to guys whose bread and butter becomes involved, there is a certain fascination to the inevitability with which modern technology and gadgets catch up with parties who for one reason or another engage in tossing monkey wrenches into the wheels of industry. This town when I arrived was in the throes of a newspaper strike, the printers having walked out, not so much in protest against the corporations as against the Taft-Hartley Act, which is not a private affair, but one of the stautes of the nation, and which will so remain until it is voted off the books.

Continue To Publish

Ordinarily, when the Linotypist lets his lead-pot grow cold and the Make-up parks his make-up rule in his work clothes and stays home, the newspaper quietly folds up and doesn't publish. This costs large sums of money in lost revenue, and pretty soon there is a compromise or the strikers get what they want and come back

But in this instance, the newspapers of Chicago continued to publish. Modern means had been found temporarily to by-pass the Linotype operator, type-setter and make-up chappie. Your operative, an old newspaper and composing room buff, had to see this and paid a visit to the HERALD-AMERICAN, and was enthralled to find the shop in the throes of what seemed to be cutting out and pasting up paper dolls. It developed that the boys and girls hadn't blown their tops from the strain of the strike. The method of circumventing the walkout and continuing the objective of being a newspaper, which is to get out on the street and print the news no matter what, was strictly a cut-and-paste job.

More Efficient Than Printers

The new "Composing Room," instead of a place of clank and clatter filled with the mechanical monsters of Mergenthaler, the Linotype machines, was a quiet office, where a bevy of very handsome fillies was engaged in operating batteries of typewriters. They were more efficient, faster and a great deal prettier than most printers I have

The "Copy" from their machines was pasted up on full-sized page dummies, along with the photographs that went with the stories. Other cuties were sitting at small boards, pasting up, letter by letter, the headlines that went over these stories, not quite as fast as a machine operator can do it, but fast enough; guys from the art department supervised the completed page which thereupon was rushed to the photo-engraving room where a plate was made, the plate sent through to the stereotypers, and bingo, the boys were in business.

The result was a highly legible paper with shorter, snappier stories, and a response from readers who said, "Hey, we like this kind of paper. Keep it up.

Stories In Three Paragraphs

No news story rated more than three paragrphs and managed to convey its message and content. Features were cut, my own sacred prose coming in for considerable pruning which I was informed in many quarters, did much to improve it.

Eventually, the stirek will be settled one way or the other, the printing crafsmen will return to work, and with a sigh of relief all hands will settle back to getting out the rag in the good old manner. But will they? Or has the dope who called this particular strike at this particular time, done a fatally damaging dis-service to his union and his members?

What About Tomorrow?

For the published has quite definitely demonstrated that under certain circumstances, he CAN get out a good paper without the servives of the type-setters. Today, it is a tour-de-force, calling for much work and struggle, but what about tomorrow, when invention catches up with necessity? Given batteries of typewriters equipped with newspaper type-faces on the keys, the solving of certain mechanical bottle-necks, and the Linotype operator becomes as obsolete as the cotton-picker. For the new method is much cheaper. Also the idea of a "Composing room" packed with sirens with varying shades of hair and all of them boasting that "new look" has definite attractions. It all giveth one to think, does it not?

Sculptor Plans Memorial To Sioux Warrior

CUSTER, S. D .- (INS)-When future generations see a statue of famed Sioux Warrior, "Crazy Horse," etched against the sky from ancient Thunderhead Moun-tain, they should ponder well the trials and tribulations of its sculp-

Korczak Ziolkowski, Boston sculptor, plans to spend the next 30 years chiseling out the mammoth figure. But even before he starts, he figures he has had more than his share of troubles.

He didn't have to buy the mountain where he plans to build the statue but he says:

Purchased Two Claims

"I recently was forced to purchase two mining claims at three times their normal value to get control of the land."

Ziolkowski said that apparently a local miner found out sometime ago that the mountain was the best location for the memorial and "I guess the fellow beat me to the punch.

"He filed two mining claims on the land just two days before I arrived here from the east to start work on the project." The sculptor continued:

Offered To Sell

"The fellow who owned the claims came to my cabin and offered to sell them. However, I refused. But later on, after some advice from friends, I bought the two claims at a stiff price—fully three times what the land is worth."

Since the claims are in a rich mining area, Ziolkowski plans to mine beryl and feldspar to help finance the monument to "Crazy Horse.

Ziolkowski says he has poured more than $70,000 into the project so far but hopes to finance the rest of the work with the sale of Indian souvenirs and an admission charge. The 39-year-old sculptor added:

"I have never asked the govern-ment for funds for this project. I am sure, however, that in another 100 years when Indians are practically extinct, it will be no trouble to get money from the government to build a monument for the Red-

Then he added, realistically: "But I can't wait 100 years."

Black Hills Last Refuge The South Dakota Black hills the memorial because "they were the last refuge of the Indian in this section of the nation. They came here to hunt, to fish-and to die at the hands of the white man." According to Ziolkowski, "Crazy Horse" was the only Indian to twice defeat the American Army. The famed Sioux chief won over the forces of General Crook and beat General Custer.

Before he undertook to immortalize "Crazy Horse," Ziolkowski gained considerable fame in the

Huge Webster Statue

His statue of Noah Webster, in West Hartford, Conn., is the largest sculpture to be made from a single piece of marble in the world except for Michaelangelo's "David." It is 13 feet high.

Besides the historical lore sur-rounding Crazy Horse, another reason might be advanced for the admiration felt by Ziolkowski. They both were born on Sep-

STOCKHOLM .- (INS) The 500. 000 kronor which the government last year set aside to provide free vacation trips for hard-working Swedish housewives were completely used up last summer by 16,731 women from all over the country. They took advantage of the chance of spending two weeks in the country with expenses paid. In addition, 3,000 found needed recreation at rest homes. Some of the grants were also used to help defray the expenses at home when the housewife was on vacation.

"A Secret" U.S. Official Is Surprised At Jap Kuriles Demands

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 .- (INS) A high U. S. official, working out tentative provisions for a Japanese peace treaty, expressed surprise today at Japanese "demands" or ownership or control of the entire Russian-held Kurile island

Commenting on an 18-point memorandum released by Japanese official sources in Tokyo, the responsible official said that most of the Japanese peace objectives are "understandable" and have been made known unofficially.

Previously, however, the Japanese have sought return of only or more of these inexpensives the southern Kuriles through a legal technicality which, they contend, established these islands as an integral part of Japan. The request for a Japanese mandate over the northern islands represented a new view, the official

He indicated some doubt as to whether Japan can claim any rights in the Kuriles, because the Yalta agreement ceding the chain to Russia generally is interpreted as applying to the entire group.

The memorandum's acceptance of U. S. control of Okinawa is regarded as a "realistic" attitude. although some Japanese have called previously for extension of Japanese sovereignty to the Ryukyus. The U.S. spokesman pointed out that the southern islands are of no economic value to Japan. In addition, he expressed belief that Japan's postwar leaders would tacitly welcome protection of U. S. military forces in Okinawa, partiscularly in view of the request for complete evacuation of Humane Society the treaty signature.

Rope Trick Stops West's Magicians

PARIS, France-(INS)-With a futile attempt to imitate the Indian rope trick, in spite of a standing prize of 1,000 pound sterling, the International Congress of Magicians recently terminated a week of comparing tricks and

While no Western fakir could pocket the award for the standing rope, thousands of other species of prestidigitation were demonstarted during the first get-together of the professional and amateur magicians of the world since the end of the war.

The corridors of the Hotel Lutetia, where the modern Merlins met were no place for a sane man to be. One reporter who offered a cigarette to a magician was startled to see the weed disappear up the donee's nose.

Conditions Vex Magicians Magicians found as much reason as ordinary mortals to complain about world conditions. British magicians complained of serious shortages in the supply of silk handkerchiefs.

The French sector was unhappy about the price of eggs being too high to allow magicians to break them into the audience's hats. Still others vituperated against high

Another Year Of Food Drive

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5-The administration mapped plans today to continue its food conservation drive for another year with the twin-objective of bringing down food prices at home and saving grain for European relief.

President Truman's cabinet food committee, headed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, emphasized that the food-saving drive will be intensified during the next twelve

"Meatless Tuesdays" and "eggless Thursdays" will continue and the distilling, brewing and baking industries are being asked to adopt long-range conservation practices. Anderson said some sort of enforced controls may be necessary in the liquor industry.

The committee, which will administer the campaign launched by Charles Luckman, announced the intensified program on the heels of reports that Americans now are consuming more meat than before the meatless days were in-

To Make "Days" Effective James A. Stillwell, who took over direction of the drive upon the resignation of Luckman, said that efforts will be made to make the meatless and eggless days more effective. He declared:

-"From the Halls of Montezuma To the Shores of Tripoli." United States Marines have sung these words for 100 years, but history records that the Marines fought at Tripoli first. Marine Corps Headquarters archves in Washington reveal that the unknown Marine who first penned the marching song of the Leathernecks in 1847 transposed the motto placed on the Marine colors which read "From the Shores of Tripoli to the Halls of the Montezumas." Marines wearing the leather stocks which earned them the nick-name of "Leathernecks" fought the Barbary pirates on "the shores of Tripoli" in 1804.

Attack Pirate Fortress In a noteworthy attack on the pirate fortress at Derne, Tripoli, they raised the American flag over first time in the Old World. U.S. Marines, led by the naval hero Stephen Decatur, also raised and destroyed a warship anchored under the guns of a pirate fortress in what Lord Nelson called "the most daring exploit of the age. "The Halls of Montezuma" earned their place in Marine history when the Leathernecks, serving with the Army in the Mexican War. stormed the historic Castle of Chapultepec in Mexico City. The Castle still occupies the same site as that of the Aztec emperor Montezuma in the days of the Spanish Conquistadores.

To Be Merry, First Be Wary

Don't Let Death Take Your Holi-With this slogan as a keynote, the National Safety Council has announced a nationwide campaign to check the huge annual Christmas holiday toll.

The Christmas-New Year holiday season is the most hazardous single period of the year, according to Council statistics. In traffic accidents alone, three times as many persons are killed on a Christmas week end than on the same days of the preceding two weeks.

Heavier travel and the festive spirit of the season increase the normal winter hazards, such as bad weather, slippery roads and more hours of darkness.

Public Support Sought

More than 130 national organizations, city and state officials, safety councils and civic leaders have joined forces with the Council in the year-end campaign. Together they seek to create in the public mind an awareness of the special holiday hazards, and to enlist voluntary cooperation on the part of every individual to hold accidents to a minimum this Christ-

The council emphasized that the campaign is the final effort of the year to hold the 1947 traffic death toll below the 1946 total of 33,700. At the end of the first nine months this year, there was a small reduction in traffic deaths-four per cent-from the same perioid of 1946. But the final quarter of the year always is the one with the most traffic deaths.

"Christmas is the season to be merry, but it is also the season to be wary," warned Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council.

About 250 Wives Of American Citizens Held In Russian Territory

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 .- (INS The state department disclosed today that the United States has been unable to obtain the release by the Soviet Union of about 250 wives of Ameircan citizens who have been unable to escape from Russian territory.

The revelation was made in connection with an exchange of notes on the movements of various citizens in the United States and Russia who may want to be repatriated.

The note exchange was instituted by Russia in requesting the United States to facilitate the Arnenians living in the United States who wish to go to Soviet Armenia. At that time the department said would "interpose" no objections to the departure of these people.' It added, however, that despite continuing efforts on the part of the U.S. embassy in Moscow it had not been able to secure permission for a large number of American citizens to come to the United States.

Marshall Says Soviet Seeking To Disrupt Plan

NY KINGSBURY SMITH (Eureyean General Manager International

LQNDON, Dec. 5 .- (INS)-Secretary of State Marshall bluntly accused Russia today of attempting to disrupt the Marshall selfhelp plan for European recovery.

The American hurled his charge at the Soviet Union as it became incressingly clear at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that ther is no hope of getting an agreement on an Austrian treaty unless the German settlement is achinved first.

Answering a charge made by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov that the United States is "imposing" financial aid on Austria for the purposes of "enslavement," Marshall replied tartly:

Real Purpose Of Attacks "Me are all aware that the real purpose of the attacks of this nature is to disrupt the great cooperatize movement that has been launched for the economic recovery of Europe.'

Than, referring to Molotov's repeated assertions and Soviet demands for German assets in Austria as based on Moscow's interpretation of the Potsdam agreement, the American diplomat stat-

"It is not the intention of the government of the United States to repudiate any of its international commitments, including the Potsgam agreement . . . "L'kewise, it is not the intention of the United States to allow any agreement to be distorted to accomplish purposes which most certainly were not the intentions of the original signatory."

'Baby' Beef Judging Causes Sorrow, Swine Also Up For Auction Today

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 .- (INS)-A bit of youthful sadness was injected into the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago today. This was the day for Four-H club members and young Future Farmers of America to part with the 900 "baby" beeves they raised and brought to the big show.

Slowly and sadly, the youths will lead their farm pets, which they had carefully fed and developed, over a ramp known as "the bridge of sighs" to the auction ring at the International amphitheater.

Part With Vets There the proud young owners, some of them with tears in their eyes, bid farewell to their "baby" beeves as they withdraw for the auction sales of the junior feeding

OPEN SATURDAY NITE TILL 9 P. M.

There are very few fistic fans with folding money to splurge who believe that "Jersey Joe" Walcott will leave the Madison Square Garden ring tonight other than feet

The present odds are 6 to 5 that Arnold Cream (Walcott along Punch Alley) won't lend an ear to the bell announcing the fourth round in his tiff with Louis.

Yes, it looks like the battlescarred challenger, whose actual age varies like the stock quotations with each of his matches, will simply be victim No. 24 when the De-troit Devastator limbers up his sledge-hammers.

Of the 23 men who have tried to life the crown from Louis' head in the past 11 years, 21 have awakened in Dreamland. Of this total 11 were sent reeling in five sessions or less.

Challengers Few

Followers of the sport will argue that Walcott has no right to be in the same ring with the champ. However, in this gloomy heavyweight era, with challengers strictly of the tarnished variety, the promoters could hardly have made another choice that would have added any glitter to the title defense.

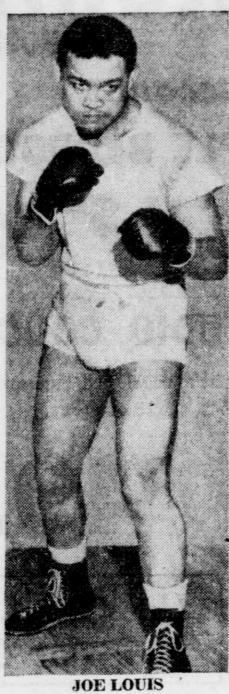

Someday (and it is bound to happen) a lean, hungry kid will come out of nowhere just like Louis did. and take the gaudiest bauble of boxing. But when he does there will probably be no Louis to wrest it from. Ole Joe just can't go on forever even against the secondraters who clutter the challenge list, and will almost certainly hang up his mitts in the near future and stop worrying about his waist-line, once and for all.

Not Worst Walcott is by no means the worst contender to step into the ring with the champion. There have been many less equipped for such a shot. Jersey Joe is game and upon occasion he has shown that he can hit. And he has a family of six kids to support which should lend Tale Of Tape as much impetus as anything to his desire to pull the biggest ring upset of all time.

Most of the onlookers tonight will harbor no such thoughts though, as Louis being beaten. Joe just doesn't figure to play dead before his old sparring partner.

Louis took the heavyweight title in June, 1937, when he battered old Jimmy Braddock out in eight rounds. He has already stated he is out for an early KO tonight. When Joe makes up his mind he usually follows through. It doesn't appear as though any of the crowd ing forward to a professional footwill be late getting to bed.

Tough Glass Boon To Sporting Fans

Science To Give Onlookers Clear View Of Events By New Unbreakable Glass

NEW YORK - (INS) - Science seems determined that sports fans of the future won't miss a single play of the contest they attend. It is ripping away the barriers to vision and replacing them with tough glass.

Baseball spectators in San Francisco already watch from behind a wall of Tuf-flex glass in the stands of the Seals, Pacific Coast leaguers. Not only has the chicken wire been discarded, but slits between the glass panels let the boos come Life has improved for the rinkside spectators at hockey games, too. At Madison Square Garden a glass wall makes it unnecessary to duck under a seat and miss the next three plays when the puck comes zooming in your direction.

Watch Handball, Basketball They're watching big-time handball in a glass-enclosed court at the Town club in Chicago it is reported, and studying spear-fishing from glass bottomed boats off Bermuda. And basketball fans in the end seats can now see the ball plunk through the hoop because the backboards are glass.

Even the anglers can catch a glimpse-in advance-of the fish they hope to hook in West Virginia where the state conservation commission exhibits them in glasswindowed tanks en route from hatchery to stream.

Still, some observers think the best bet in glass for the fans has been overlooked. In addition to improving the view they think it would be a boon to the wrestling game to have a super-extra strength glass intervene when the maulers start pitching each other from the ring into the tender laps of the spectators.
